About Us

The College of Sports and Recreation was officially founded in August of 2001. It has 2 departments and 1 graduate institute. The program of departments are as follows: the Department of Physical Education offers the undergraduate/master/doctoral program, as well as the in-service master's program; the Department of Athletic Performance provides the undergraduate and the master program; and the Graduate Institute of Sport, Leisure and Hospitality Management offers the master program, the in-service master's program, and the doctoral program.

Characteristic

The primary aim of the College of Sports and Recreation is to become a leading educational institution in Taiwan, as well as to gain a reputation within the international academic community. In 2015, the College won seventh place in a global university competition for sports science and physical education. Integrating technology with theory and practice and strengthening international and local characteristics, the College of Sports and Recreation combines technology with the humanities to serve as the core of its training for nationally-ranked athletes, sports science experts, academic specialists, experienced coaches, and sports management and hospitality elites.

Vision

1. In concert with national policy, focuses on the promotion of physical education, exercise, and leisure programs.
2. Emphasize the importance of health in response to a demand for improving the public's understanding and the execution of physical fitness.
3. Following the policy of NTNU, the College will reinforce the cultivation of talents in physical education, exercise, and leisure and management.
4. In order to increase job diversity, the College provides further study opportunities for graduate students, institution and industry staff, and on-the-job students, etc.
5. To fulfill the goal of becoming the comprehensive university, the College will enhance the professional understanding of the fields of sport, leisure, and management by concentrating on academic collaboration and research with domestic and international universities.
