

College of Arts

Features

The first and foremost professional art school of the country, the College of Arts NTNU is known for its traditional legacy and innovative vision for art education. As the cradle to generations of art masters, educators, theorists and designers, the College has committed itself to strengthening visual application with creativity and developing interdisciplinary art talents.

Top-notch faculty members from the fields of industry, education, and research of art, as well as students who are recognized by domestic and foreign competitions and the job market, have earned the College its international academic reputation.

We also care about social responsibility, holding the NTNU Arts Festival every March to June, which immerses the campus and community in an artistic atmosphere, and showcases the achievement of art creation and talent development.

Diversified Development

1. We keep up with the national cultural policy to develop art talents favored by the job market.
2. Following each stage of the university's development and the Higher Education Sprout Project, we strengthen the features and connection between departments, institute and centers. Combine artworks and academic achievements from both the grand history and the globalized diverse present, we offer professional interdisciplinary art courses.
3. Our university boasts all sorts of art spaces on an international level and with community features, including NTNU Art Museum, Te-chun Gallery, and Taiwan Design Corner, which provide students with the chance to create, curate, and learn.
4. With diverse interdisciplinary programs such as digital technology art, relics restoration, and interior design, we nurture students for the coming future.

Global Cooperation and Vision

To accommodate "The Program of Bilingual Education for Students in College", we offer joint seminars and workshops in English, which benefits foreign students with credits and improves local students' command of English in the art profession. These courses welcome students of the NTU Triangle Alliance (NTU, NTNU, and NTUST) as well.

We create synergy with global view, employability and learning capacity. Much effort is put into international academic agreements, study trips, international exchange exhibitions, and master workshops. Students are encouraged to participate in domestic and foreign competitions, with the aim to broaden their minds and strengthen their international mobility, practicing the idea of internationalization at home.
