Eligibility	Students with indigenous peoples status, survivors of military and civil servants, students with disabilities, children of people with disabilities, children of active military personnel, students from low-income households, students from low-and middle-income households, and children from families in hardship.	A 1.7 GPA (average score of 60) or higher; annual family income lower than NT$900,000; total family interest income lower than NT$20,000; total real estate value lower than NT$ 6.5 million.	Republic of China nationals with household registration and formal student status whose total annual family income (in New Taiwan Dollars) meets the following application qualifications are eligible to apply for a loan. Applicants with a total family income above NT$1.2 million and without siblings or children are not eligible for the loan: Below NT$1.2 million: Interest-free. NT$1.2 million to NT$1.48 million: Students with two or more siblings or children (inclusive) are interest-free. Above NT$1.48 million: (1) Students with two siblings or children must pay full interest. (2) Students with three or more siblings or children (inclusive) are interest-free.
Application process	Online application is open from January 1 to registration deadline. You can pay about 2 days after the waiver is approved.	Online application is open from October 1 to 20 each year. Tuition for the first semester must be paid, however, eligible applicants will receive a tuition waiver for the following semester.	Online application is open from January 15 to registration deadline. For details, visit the Division of Student Services (Office of Student Affairs-Financial Aid-Student Loan) website.
Notes	Students granted a tuition and fees waiver who wish to apply for a student loan may apply for a loan amount equivalent to the original tuition and fees minus the waived amount. The student will need to apply for the waiver first before applying for the student loan. Students can only apply for either a tuition and fee waiver or financial aid for disadvantaged students. (Tuition and fee waiver, financial aid for disadvantaged students, and student loan are applicable for Taiwanese students only.)
